*Estimate. Assumes 50 retail ATM theft/day in the US, allowing $2,500 for the ATM and $10,000 for repairs and loss of business, equals $625,000 per day, $19 million per month, $228 million per year. Assume $1,000 in ATM cash for each theft equaling $18 million in losses. Add an estimated $4.5 million from bank attacks, and the total annual loss from crash-and-grab ram raid thefts in the United States equals a quarter of a billion dollars conservatively. 2012 Guide published by Diebold Inc. and ATM Marketplace <https://www.atmmarketplace.com/articles/gone-in-60-seconds-atm-crash-and-grab-crime-on-the-rise/>.
